

Bathroom Inspiration

“Shut yourself away in style”

For years, bathrooms have presented a challenge when it comes to choosing window coverings because of moisture, direct contact with water, or condensation. At The New England Shutter Company, bathroom shutters have become increasingly popular and we continue to see this trend grow in 2018. Giving the ideal balance of privacy and light, shutters create the perfect solution to screening wet room or bathroom windows and present the ideal feature to combine practicality with spellbinding elegance.

Choosing the right style and design is essential to finding the right shutters to make your bathroom just as beautiful as the rest of your home. From traditional plantation to ultra sleek; we have a unique range of shutter louvre designs to suit your interior decor.

We offer a wide range of solid timbers which are finished using water resistant colour matched acrylic paint. If a natural wood finish is desired, we recommend Teak or Cedar as it is not affected by moisture. For wet rooms, or where shutters come in to direct contact with water, we use cedar wood, painted in acrylic paint, which can be matched to the colour of your choice.

For a contemporary or trending interior design style, our faux leather covered shutters truly create a statement in luxury bathrooms. The faux leather is stain resistant, easily wiped clean, UV stable and will not stretch, nor fade in sunlight.

The size of your window is a crucial aspect of your shutter design and style. A tall but narrow window could have one large shutter which will make the room feel larger. Short, but wide windows, will be best suited to having multiple thinner panels in order to enhance the window opening. Those with square windows would benefit from having three narrow shutter panels, which will give the illusion of greater window height. A wall of ‘floor to ceiling’ glazing is accentuated with tall and wide sliding shutter panels.

Uniquely, TNESC is the only company that can vary every element within the design of a shutter; from the blade size, the distance between the blades, rail and side stile sizes, to the depths and height of a midrail. This flexibility allows us to design a shutter that is made to fit, not made to measure.

We pride ourselves on excellence, making shutters as a traditional joinery company would have done years ago, using time honoured methods and the finest craftsmanship. Attention to detail goes beyond our design process right through to the personal service we provide to ensure complete customer satisfaction.

Investing in shutters is as rewarding as investing in a piece of bespoke furniture as we design to enhance architectural and interior design features. Whatever your specific needs are, we can design and manufacture shutters to meet them. ■
